Erratum Bachelor’s OER 17-18 – Binding Study Advice
25 October 2017

Your attention for a few corrections in the information concerning the procedure of the execution of the Binding Study Advice (BSA) in the Teaching- and Examination Regulations (OER) 2017-2018 of the Bachelor’s programmes.

1. As is stated in paragraph 3 of Article 6.2 - Advice regarding continuation of studies - the Dean will provide every student in a full-time Bachelor’s programme with advice regarding the continuation of his or her studies at the end of the first academic year. In contrary to what is stated in this article this advice is not issued by the Examinations Board.

2. In paragraph 4 of Article 6.3 - Binding (negative) advice regarding continuation of studies (BSA) – is stated that the student will be informed of the possibility of being heard by the Examinations Board and how he or she can apply for such a hearing in case of an intended negative binding advice regarding the continuation of studies. To this article will be added that if the student doesn’t apply (timely) for such a hearing, he or she will receive a negative Binding Study Advice.

3. In paragraph 5 of Article 6.3 is stated that the Dean will determine which students will receive a negative Binding Study Advice regarding the continuation of studies and that the execution of the Binding Study Advice is delegated by the Dean to the Examinations Board. In contrary to the above mentioned, the Examinations Board is mandated to give students dispensation from Binding Study Advice regarding continuation of studies on behalf of the Dean in cases of personal circumstances. As soon as possible after the hearing will be determined which students will receive dispensation of the negative Binding Study Advice regarding the continuation of studies.
